A Boys' School of Proven Worth

We feel that our pride is justified. This Boys' School at Van Cortlandt Park is only ONE year old, although as a former part of the Horace Mann School at 120th Street, 27 years were consumed in building its foundation. We decided that to prepare boys for college-mentally and physicallywe would have to select the best student material and then specialize in the training of boys for college work and life. We erected a building amid spacious grounds and assembled a staff of men teachers experienced in preparing for college requirements, and now-after our first year, we know we were right, and we face the future confident that boys graduated from this school will speak for us through all their college years. Our school day is from 9 in the morning until 5 at night. We guide a boy during his study and during his play. He is with us all day long—learning and developing. Fall term opens September 27. Catalogue upon request. The Horace Mann School for Boys
